TEACHER'S MEETING.

Henderson County Pedagogues have an Interesting Conference.

The teachers of Henderson county met in regular session at the court house on Saturday, August 26. The meeting was called to order at 10:30 a. m. by the county superintendent, with about thirty teachers present.

The superintendent expressed his gratification at seeing so many of the teachers who had in former years taught in Henderson; he also had a word of welcome for those who for the first time are teaching in the county.

He asked that all the teachers co-operate with him in an effort to better and advance the educational interest of the county. Continuing, Mr. Ray touched briefly upon some of the problems that confront the teachers. He then introduced Prof. Morgan and asked him to give the teachers some hints on discipline, with special reference to preventing whispering in the school room. Mr.
Morgan did not suggest any definite plan as to how to prevent whispering, but said that it was indeed an evil and urged that the teachers insist that the pupils do not whisper in the school room.

Mr. Posey was then asked to give his idea as to how the evil could be stopped.
In the course of his remarks he emphasized the idea of ruling with kindness.
He said that he would have the teachers be firm with the pupils, yet at the same time treat them kindly.

Mr. Barnwell was then called on and responded with a joke about an Irishman who got the better of a merchant.
Continuing, Mr. Barnwell gave some of his experience in the school room, and made quite a number of good points on discipline.

The meeting was then thrown open for remarks or questions by any of the teachers. Miss Stepp asked some questions with regard to holding the smaller pupils to a strict observance of the rule forbidding all whispering. It was suggested by Mr. Barnwell, Mr. Morgan and others that the rule should apply to the little fellows as well as to the larger pupils.

Miss Pender then took the floor and in a short talk urged the teachers to have the school houses made as homelike as possible. She asked to see the hands of those whose school rooms had no pictures on the wall; there were four hands raised.

Luther Anderson was next introduced and asked to talk on the subject of agriculture. He said that within the time given him he would hardly be able to reach his subject. He did reach his subject, however, and gave the teachers some good points. During the course of his talk he took occasion to strike a blow at those who, when talking to school children, picture to them the prospect of becoming senators, congressmen, presidents, etc. He said that the boys should be encouraged to stay on the farms.

Picnic.

Hendersonville, N. C., Sept. 4, 1905.
Stony Mountain Sunday School will give a picnic on Saturday, the 9th of Sept., beginning at 10 a. m., at old French Broad church. Everybody cordially invited to bring a basket.

We hope to have a good time, as this is the oldest Baptist church in North Carolina, but as we have been deprived of worship for a few years on account of dilapidation we, as Baptists, are endeavoring to build a new church. We want to thank Bro. Lee Hefner for his liberal contribution, as he has given us a place on which to build, south of the old one. We extend our hearty thanks to all who have contributed for this enterprise.

Rugby is cordially invited.

Obituary.

Louise McCall, daughter of Dan McCall died August 22, 1905, age 16 years 9 months 6 days. Her death was sudden and unexpected and was a shock to her family and friends.

She was a young woman, which makes her death all the more lamentable. She was ill only a few days. The disease that was inexplicable in its workings, and relentless in its severity, was hard to bear, but she faced death for many hours when the physicians had no hopes of her recovery. She remarked just before she died, all she worried over was leaving Papa and Mamma and prayed for the Lord to give them strength to stand their afflictions.

She has left a vacancy in her home, which can never be filled in her neighborhood, and in the school room was one of my dearest scholars. Language seems so poor, so meagre so meaningless that I have no words in which to tell the half I feel in a sorrow like this.
She was always so jovial, so pleasing and was never so happy as when her home, was filled with her friends. All through her life she added to the sum of human joy, and were everyone, for whom she did some loving kindness, to bring a blossom to her grave, she would sleep in a wilderness of flowers. She bore her affliction with the fortitude of a Christian, retained her faculties to her last moment's yielding her breath in full peace of mind and convinced, that she was leaving this earthly state for better and a happier in another world.
She was affectionate, lively and ever holding forth hopes of happiness in after times, which will scarcely bear reflection. It was beautiful to see the affection of those nearest to her lavished upon her in that going down to the grave, which all felt. Life could not all be a failure, where so much of genuine love, devotion and tenderness was manifested to her. We could always tell when her father returned home from his long stay, her sweet voice would always echo, "Papa," but these words of consolation can never come to her father's ears again. One by one, they all can meet, and wait that be a happy meeting when the Heavenly door is open to them.

Letter to W. A. Smith.

Dear Sir: Two and two make four—not always; depends upon what "two and two" are.

Two gallons of water and two gallons of milk don't make four gallons of milk.

Neither does four gallons of paint that's half lime, whitening, clay and kerosene oil, make four gallons of real paint.

That's what we mean by saying "Fewer gallons; wears longer." It takes fewer gallons of Devco lead-and-zinc than of mixed paints to paint a house, and it wears twice or three times as long as lead-and-oil mixed by hand.

Mr. Chas. Avery, of Herkimer, N. Y. bought 51 gallons of Devco lead-and-zinc to paint his five houses, his painter having figured that it would require at least that amount; 36 gallons did the work and he returned 15 gallons.

Yours truly,

F. W. DEVCO & Co.

Spartanburg Journal.

Anybody who says that this newspaper changed its position as to the dispensary at any time, be he newspaper editor or what not, is a common, ordinary liar.

Anybody who says that this newspaper was in any way dishonest or dishonorable in accepting payment for the publication or matter, be he newspaper editor or what not, is an extraordinary liar and a malicious and unprincipled slanderer.

Anybody who thinks we erred in printing paid political matter has a right to that opinion, but the opinion is wrong. The paid political matter was in accord with the editorial position of the paper and the public was put on notice that it was being printed.

We care little about the opinion of any part of the press of South Carolina.
We are not responsible to any newspaper for the way we run this one. We have conducted it according to our own ideas for five years, and have made it the greatest success ever achieved in that length of time by a South Carolina newspaper. Some of our carping critics are envious of this very success. These may classify themselves according to the opening sentence of this article.

We shall continue to publish this newspaper in our own way, being responsible only to the people of Spartanburg for our correct conduct, and we intend and expect to push The Journal to greater success than ever.
